SCALE ACCEPTED, NEW ONE ASKED

Anthracite Miners Sign 2-Year
Contract on U. S. Award

ANOTHER HEARING URGED

Many Collieries Are Still Idle
as Protest

SCRANTON, Pa.—(By Associated Press).—Representatives of the United Mine Workers of America who Thursday night accepted and signed a new two-year contract with the coal operators, based on the award of the anthracite coal commission giving hard coal diggers increases ranging from 17 to 25.7 per cent, met Friday to formulate a plan for reopening the wage agreement and asking for further increases.

The union leaders declare the contract just signed is unsatisfactory, in that it gave the workers little more than the offer of the operators, which was rejected last spring.

The full scale coal committee, representing three anthracite districts, met to draw up a communication to be addressed either to President Wilson or Secretary of Labor W. B. Wilson. It will set forth the reasons why the award they were pledged to accept is not satisfactory. It will be along the lines of the statement made to the operators Thursday.

Many collieries throughout the anthracite regions were still idle Friday due to workers remaining away from the operations as a protest against the terms of mining, while operators expressed the opinion that the leaders are not unwilling to see the mines idle pending efforts to get further wage increases.

WILKESBARRE, Pa.—(By United Press).—The "vacation" strike of coal miners in District Number 1, continued to spread Friday, according to leaders of the insurgent miners.

None of the men who quit work Thursday because of dissatisfaction with the recent anthracite wage award had returned to work Friday, these leaders claimed.

It was further asserted that the ranks of the miners had been considerably swelled by thousands of other "vacationists" from outlying sections of this district.

Claims of the strike leaders were met by assertions of the coal company officials that the situation had grown no worse over night.

STOLEN TRAIN SET TO RUN WILD

Found After Supply of Steam is Exhausted

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press).—The freight train seized here Thursday night by a band of men, believed to be members of the striking "outlaw" switchmen, was found early Friday near Bensenville, Ill., with the throttle wide open and the two-one freight cars apparently unattended.

Several battles between freight crews and bands of the striking switchmen, who never regained their jobs, preceded the theft of the train which occurred shortly before midnight Thursday night in the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul yards at Cicero, a suburb.

Thomas White, the engineer, was driven from his post at the point of a gun and when Bert Zimponce, the fireman, resisted, he was badly beaten. White immediately gave the alarm and after several hours' search the train was found.

Railroad officials believe the throttle had been pulled wide open and the train abandoned by the hand who stole it. It had apparently run down for lack of steam.

White said the manner in which the thieves handled the engine convinced him they were experienced railroad men. Five suspects were taken into custody Friday by the police.

GARBAGE CO. TO LEAVE CITY

City Cannot Hold Concern to Contract, Solicitor Declares,
Since It Has Broken Agreement—Mayor Sees
Menace to Public Health

Lima is temporarily without a means of disposing of garbage, as a result of the Sanitary Garbage Co. quitting business on September 1.

Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt declared Thursday a meeting of the city board of health may be called within a few days to act on the matter of garbage disposal, as the accumulation of garbage will in a short time result in a menace to the public health.

The Sanitary Garbage Company, cannot be held to their contract, according to an opinion rendered by City Solicitor Garling, as the city has failed to live up to its part of the contract, making it void. This opinion was rendered at a meeting of the board of health on August 25.

CONTRACT NOT FULFILLED
The first year of a three-year contract with the city for the collection of garbage, expired July 1, according to the mayor. The agreement, he said, was for the garbage company to pay the city $520 per year for the exclusive right to collect garbage. This part of the contract, according to the city solicitor, has not been carried out by the city, as numerous other garbage collectors have been permitted to operate here since the contract was entered into with the Sanitary company.

On January 1, Mayor Burkhardt declared, E. L. Selgrath, proprietor of the company refused to pay his license on these grounds. He continued, however, to collect garbage until September 1, when he suspended operations entirely and began to collect the cans which have been distributed among his patrons.

Mayor Burkhardt declared Selgrath gave among other reasons, the difficulty of retaining men for the work of garbage collection. He has also experienced difficulty with the county board of health, it is understood as the method of dumping garbage has been denounced by it as a menace to the public health.

WILL SELL EQUIPMENT
It was announced at the office of the company Friday morning that equipment consisting of a number of hogs, mule teams, garbage cans, etc., are to be sold.

When the Sanitary Garbage Co. started operations here the plan was to furnish every household who so desired a sanitary garbage can which was to be removed at least once a week and a clean can left.

In view of the provisions of its contract which gave the company a monopoly on the collection of garbage, the company had a number of independent garbage collectors arrested and brought into criminal court. This action precipitated a fight and nothing came of the arrests.

At the same time the arrests were made, changes were made that the company was not giving service. It was revealed that only two seasons were being operated to care for the 110 miles of street in the city and numerous householders said they were forced to burn garbage. It was found that this was actually being done in some sections, the residents saying they were unable to get it removed.

For a time the independent collectors cut down operations, but recently they have been operating in various parts of the city and it is this that that company declares has made it unprofitable for it to continue collections here.

ACCUSED SLAYER GOES TO TRIAL

Defiance Man Charged With Beating Boy to Death

JURY VISITS CRIME SCENE
Men to Decide Fate Picked After Several Days' Work

DEFIANCE, O.—(By Associated Press).—Accused of having beat Arthur Gerald Bullock, three-year-old son of his housekeeper, Ida May Bullock, to death with a leather harness tug last July 8, Joshua Botkins, a Noble township farmer, went on trial here Friday.

The jury was completed late Thursday and taken to the scene of the alleged crime. It required several days to fill the jury because of the wide publicity given the case in the county and because of the crime's revolting details.

The defendant is a former Missouri "hilly-billy" having come to this section about three years ago.

Botkins is charged with first degree murder. He is alleged to have held the child by the ankles while administering the beating which resulted in the child's death before the arrival of physicians.

According to testimony given at the coroner's inquest following which Botkins was arrested, the boy's back was lacerated badly and internal wounds were inflicted by the lashing.

BEATING DESCRIBED
DEFIANCE, Ohio.—So many wanted to attend the trial of Joshua Botkins, 40, charged with the murder of Arthur Gerald Bullock, 3, that the courtroom couldn't hold all of them Friday.

Assistant Prosecutor Winn in the opening statement for the state, said:

"The defendant is a man of violent, dangerous and uncontrollable temper and disposition. When in anger, he is a wickedly dangerous man."

When Earl Wesley Bullock, 7, returned from the barn, he saw Botkin holding the naked body of Arthur Gerald Bullock by the feet and beating him over the head with a harness tug. Earl said Arthur was making no outcry. Botkins was beating him in a most brutal, inhuman and beastly manner.

"If the child was not dead when Earl saw the beating thru the window, he was no doubt unconscious. Botkin carried the boy to a bed and put a vest on him. The boy was not crying."

"The mother then came into the room and said to Botkin, 'Don't kill Gerald.' Botkin turned on her and ordered her out of the house. Botkin then left."

U. S. TO PROSECUTE CONTRACTORS

Over 300 Cases Grow Out of War Deals, Claim

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press).—Department of justice officials Friday were preparing to push vigorously the prosecution of more than three hundred contractors alleged to have been involved in controversies over war contracts. Millions of dollars were said by officials to be involved in the cases which, it was stated, would be instituted in both criminal and civil courts in various sections of the country.

Most of the prosecutions will be started, department officials said, as a result of information received from the war department. Other governmental departments were understood to be planning to request court proceedings against some of the contractors with whom they have dealt.

The contracts on which prosecutions will be based, it was stated at the department of justice, include agreements for the furnishing of various kinds of war supplies as well as for the construction of camps, cantonments and warehouses used by the army during the war.

'ABSOLUTE PROOF' TO BACK COX

New Witnesses Subpoenaed to Appear in Campaign Probe

MEN CITED BY E. H. MOORE

"Father of City Quota Plan"
Among Those Called

CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press).—Subpoenas for a dozen or more witnesses were sent out Friday by the senate committee investigating campaign contributions, while the committee took a recess until next Tuesday. Many of those summoned, it was understood, were cited to the committee members by E. H. Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio, pre-convention manager of Governor Cox.

"I have the names of men who can give absolute proof that before the public conscience was aroused the heads of this money-getting organization publicly boasted that the Blair plan would raise $16,000,000," Mr. Moore declared in a statement.

One of the subpoenas issued Friday was for Harry N. Blair, assistant to Treasurer Fred W. Uffman, of the Republican national committee. Mr. Moore declared Blair was "the father of the city quota plan," which was referred to by Governor Cox in his Pittsburgh speech.

FACTS DEMANDED
Senator Reed, one of the committee, told Mr. Moore, when he arrived Thursday to appear before the committee, that he wanted "facts, not legends—the men who could testify of their own knowledge as competent witnesses in any reasonable criminal case as to the matters at issue."

After a conference with the committee, it was decided to have Senators Reed and Tamm, of the Democratic members, get the names of proposed witnesses from Mr. Moore and issue subpoenas. The committee members declared they would search into the records of every political group, down to the smallest ward unit, and that they expected to "uncover a series of political scandals."

This statement of his condition was made by his brother, Sean MacSwiney, attorney for the prisoner's request, members of his family visited him Friday morning and later they expressed that the end was not far away. Those who went to his cell included MacSwiney's wife, his brother, Sean MacSwiney, and his sisters Anne and Mary MacSwiney. They arrived at 5:30 o'clock and remained for 45 minutes.

Father Dominic, private chaplain to MacSwiney, celebrated a special mass in the prison.

"As Mayor of New York, the largest city of the United States," Mayor Hyman said, "and speaking for the citizens, I respectfully urge you not to disgrace our war aims by further imprisonment of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, whose heroic fortitude in repelling even unto death the opinions of citizens who elected him, has won the admiration of all the people who believe in rule of the people by the people."

Crew of Thirty Members of American Submarine, Locked In the Disabled Vessel, are Held Beneath Atlantic Ocean for Nearly Two Days

Rescued When Hope Is Almost Given Up Thru Buoy, Developed During World War—Signal Sighted by,
Passing Ship and Aid Called

PHILADELPHIA.—(By Associated Press).—Radio messages flashed from the army transport General Goethals to the Philadelphia navy yard via Cape May told of the rescue early Friday of the officers and crew of the submarine S-5, after they had spent nearly two days locked in the disabled vessel beneath the Atlantic ocean, 55 miles south of Cape Henlopen. It was after three o'clock Friday morning when Lieutenant Commander C. M. Cook, who exercised his prerogative of being the last man to leave his vessel, was taken aboard the steamship Alanthus. Nine hours had elapsed since the plight of the undersea boat had been made public thru a wireless call picked up by an amateur operator in Farmington, Conn.

It was a small buoy, a development of the world war, together with a vigilant eye of a lookout on the bridge of the transport General Goethals, that gave the thirty men on the submerged submarine S-5 their chance for lives.

This small buoy, with a bell and buzzer device that can be operated when the boat is submerged, is part of the equipment of the later type submarines. It was cast loose when the S-5 went down. The lookout on the General Goethals saw it, being attracted by its bell, as well as the fact that it was not noted on the chart.

MESSAGE FROM DEPTHS
A small boat, with an officer in command, was lowered from the transport to investigate. When the buoy was reached the buzzer device could be heard. The officer cut into the connection and quickly then came this message:

"The submarine S-5 has been submerged for thirty-five hours. 'Air is running short. Machinery is damaged, send for help.'"

This plea was sent broadcast by the wireless of the General Goethals. Among those who responded was the steamer Alanthus, which with the army transport, stood by the submerged vessel and managed to attach grappling hooks to its stern. Holding the submarine in a vertical position, a hole was bored thru her plates and air pumped thru to the suffering crew, who had almost given up all hope of rescue.

DESTROYERS RUSHED
In the meantime the call for help had been picked up by the navy wireless stations and by command of Secretary Daniels destroyers were

STORY OF HEROISM AT SEA

NEW YORK.—(By United Press).—Rescued from a living tomb at the bottom of the sea, the officers and crew of the United States submarine S-5 were being taken to Philadelphia Friday on the steamer Alanthus, while behind them, on the stern of a tow-boat, trailed the disabled submarine, which sank off Cape Henlopen and nearly cost their lives.

Details of the accident which came within a hair's breadth of becoming a naval catastrophe, coming in by wireless from the rescue ships, unfolded a thrilling tale of heroism at sea.

Thirty-five hours after the S-5, en route from Boston to Baltimore, on a resupply expedition, had slipped from the bottom off Cape Henlopen, the steamer General Goethals broadcasted a radio S. O. S. The message said the submarine was caught beneath the surface and that help was urgently needed to raise her, or cut a hole in the hull thru which the crew might be removed to safety.

CALL FOR HELP PICKED UP
By L. L. Moore, an amateur radio operator at Farmington, Conn., sitting beside his instrument, picked the cry for help out of the air. He communicated at once with Boston navy yard and with navy officials at New Haven. Destroyers were dispatched from Boston and from the southern drill grounds, where "the message was relayed to the battleship, as they cruised thru the night. The battleship Ohio turned northward at once. Other destroyers darted out from navy yards along the coast and headed toward the spot in the general vicinity of latitude 32.36 north, longitude 74 west about 59 miles east of Delaware Cape, where the submarine with its human cargo was reported resting on the bottom.

The word was also conveyed to the navy department at Washington, which evidently did not know anything about it until 20 hours after the S-5 had gone down. There were no details yet of the manner in which the crew of the submarine, trapped under water and with every minute seeing their scanty supply of air nearer exhaustion, managed at last to attract the attention of a passing vessel, after 30 hours had slowly passed, every watch tick bringing them closer to death by suffocation or drowning.

RESCUE SHIPS RUSHED
Meanwhile as the navy rescue ships plunged thru the darkness to the aid of the S-5 from north and south, the steamer General Goethals stood by to lend what it could. The submarine was found to be at a sharp angle, down by the bow, so the stern was much nearer the surface. It was evident that the Goethals would not be able to cut the submersible to the surface before the air within it was exhausted. There

REFINED SUGAR IS DOWN AGAIN

Federal Company Cuts Price to 15 Cents Pound

NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press).—Announcements were made Friday bringing prices for refined sugar to about the same basis at which "second hand" or "speculators' stocks recently have been selling.

The Federal Sugar Refining Company announced a new reduction of a cent a pound, making its price for fine granulated "15 cents a pound less 2 per cent."

Arbuckle brothers did not change their list price although they announced late Wednesday night they were offering limited amounts of fine granulated at 15 cents a pound. This is sugar that had been bought by speculators or others who have returned it to refineries to be "sold at the

ORDER FOR FIFTY LOCOMOTIVES

Lima Plant Gets Big Contract From Illinois Central

An order for fifty Santa Fe type locomotives for the Illinois Central railroad, that will keep the Lima Locomotive Works busy until far into next summer, was received by the Lima plant within the past few days, it was learned Thursday.

The report of the order was confirmed Friday afternoon by officials of the locomotive works.

Work upon the order will begin soon, it was learned, with the present force of men which numbers around 1,900 at present, being gradually increased as will be necessary.

The type of locomotive ordered by the Illinois Central is the second largest produced by the Lima plant, and is built especially for heavy freight traffic.

This order will mean that despite predicted decreases in the forces of manufacturing establishments over the country, the Lima plant will not be affected. With steady work for the entire force at the Locomotive works thru the winter, economic conditions should be fairly stable in this city. This latest order, added to others previously booked, means that the local plant will have to be kept going at top speed for a year or more.

Considerable of the Locomotive works casting and iron work is done by other Lima plants, adding to the local effect that the order will have.

LORAIN PLANT EMPLOYEES REALIZE $20,000 FROM OWN GARDEN'S IN 1920

LORAIN, O. — Employees of the National Tube company here, will realize $20,000 from their gardens this year, officials of the company in charge of the work estimate.

A thirty-five acre tract purchased by the company several years ago was cut up into small garden plots. The company furnished the seed and plants and did the plowing and harrowing. The remainder of the work was done by the men, who were given permission to use the tract without cost upon condition that they keep their gardens in good condition. There are 200 plots 50 by 100 feet, and each will average $100 profit to the gardeners.

An additional tract of ten acres inside the yard of the steel mill has been planted in corn. This garden is operated by the company and the product will be used in the mill restaurants.

U.S. SOLONS REACH JAP CAPITAL

Crowd at Tokio Quiet as the Congressmen Arrives

TOKIO. — (By Associated Press). — The American congressional party visiting Japan was welcomed upon its arrival at the capital Friday by Vice-consul Inajiro Taira, mayor of Tokio, a delegation from the Japanese diet, and Edward Bell, the American charge d'affaires, and the staff of the American.

The crowd outside the station made no demonstration either for or against the Americans. A large force of detectives closely scrutinized all Oriental in the throng, supposedly because of allegations that Koreans and Chinese were to attempt anti-Japanese manifestations on this occasion.

The press adopts a tone of cordial welcome, but demands that the spokesman of Japan seize the opportunity to discuss American relations with the visitors in the frankest spirit.

"BATHING COPS" TO FREE BEACHES OF CANOE FLIRTS

NEW YORK. — "Bathing cops" may be sworn in here to fight the newest pest, "canoe flirts."

Complaints from women and girls in the last few weeks that children have been annoying them while they sunned on the beaches of The Bronx and Long Island Sound, led Capt. Dan Costigan of the Westchester police station to decide on the new police force.

A report had by city detectives noted 26 of the flirts, who were dealt out fines of $5 each, and warned to keep away from the beaches. But misbehavior of men on the beaches, particularly after dusk, is hard to detect by men in uniform, Costigan said. Consequently, he will send the youths out attired in bathing suits to be ready to put an end to "rough stuff" in double quick time. In addition the detectives will be armed with canoes and paddles.

HANTHORN FARM HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

DRY ENFORCERS SUFFERING

Duties Compels to Taste "Poison" to Get Evidence

CINCINNATI. — "Putting down liquor" constitutes the routine duty of some Federal agents here.

These agents interpret this phrase literally.

Morning, noon and night these Government officials swallow the illegal stuff.

It's pessimistic story one of these men tells.

"When we are assigned to a case for investigation we are told we must buy drinks to prove our charge that the alleged offender, or offenders have been illegally trafficking in intoxicants," he said.

"Of course, the Government pays for these drinks, but think of the stuff that we have to drink."

"I know I am being slowly poisoned, I am walking to my own funeral."

"It used to take ten years for a heavy drinker of whiskey to lose his balance in life. I have been at this job six months and I am all wrong already."

"Raisin Jack, white mule and the other brands of illicit and adulterated liquors are proving to me that they were never intended for a man's stomach."

"We never drink enough to get drunk. We just add something each day to the slow poisoning process."

The truthfulness of this tale is found in the dull eyes and deepened lines in the faces of these Federal inspectors.

N. Y. SUN REVIEW

NEW YORK. — The New York Evening Sun financial review this afternoon said:

Given every encouragement in the way of easy money, the stock market made considerable headway on the upside in today's trading, yet the advance was not as inclusive as it was yesterday and the turnover in stocks was somewhat lighter.

There was a pronounced turning away from rail stocks, which have recently monopolized speculative attention, and the industrial was the real leaders, gains in this department running at times from 1 to 4 points, although buying was not particularly heavy. Comparatively light demand sufficed to lift the copper, sugar and oil stocks, because of their chronic liquidation position. The steel and equipment did very little aside from Baldwin.

NO CHANCE FOR THIRD PARTY

Time For Filing Names of Candidates Expires Tonight

It's now too late for a third party to file with the Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Elections for Allen county a list of candidates to go before the voters in the election on November 2—or rather it will be after to-night, as this is the last day for certification of nominees to the election board, Chief Deputy J. M. Madigan stated today.

The tickets will now be made up for the election, in accordance with law, which requires that no names shall be received after 60 days before the election, save that in event of death or resignation of a candidate on any ticket on file, the committee directing the affairs of that particular party may submit another name provided the tickets have not been printed. In event of death or resignation or error or omission in printing the tickets, new names may be placed on the tickets by the use of stickers.

It is now also too late—or will be after to-night—for anyone to get his or her name on either of the old party tickets by petitions, a privilege that remains open, provided all places on the tickets are not filled, until 60 days before the regular election. In consequence, the Democratic and Republican tickets, as reported to the election board after the August primary, will go on the November election ticket in their original form, without additions or changes.

The men dropped the rug-wrapped parcel and ran. The drove away in an automobile.

Detectives visited Warslow's apartment and found the door forced. The men had carried the safe across several houses and down the stairway of the house where they were found.

5,000 PIGEONS TO MAKE DASH

Birds to Take Part in New York-St. Louis Flight

NEW YORK. — Keen interest is being manifested here by pigeon fanciers and sportsmen's organizations in the carrier pigeon derby to be run September 25 between 2,500 cities and towns at St. Louis.

Five thousand birds will be released in pairs on that day in the various towns, all within a 500-mile radius of St. Louis. They will carry messages from mayors, governors and other officials to Governor Gardner and Mayor Kiel. It is said the race will be the biggest boost ever given to pigeon racing anywhere, not even excepting Belgium, where pigeon raising and training has been highly developed.

The race is to be the feature of a convention of retail druggists in St. Louis. A huge loft, built especially for the reception of the pigeons in St. Louis contains quarters for the pigeons.

Hundreds of applications have been received from persons who wish to watch the birds as they are trapped in, that is, taken into the aviary. The birds that will take part in the race are from 3 months to a year old. At three weeks the squabs are taken from the nest. By this time they have begun to flutter their wings, tumbling and flying from place to place about the loft. Then they are taken out, branded and fitted with practical and then begin their work as flyers.

Officials of the pigeon section of the United States Signal Corps will conduct the race and record the time of arrival. Governor Gardner and Frank P. Lucke, president of the International Federation of Homing Pigeon Fanciers, will act as judges. The prizes range from $100 to $1000.

WOMEN NOT AFRAID TO TELL THEIR AGES

TOPEKA, Kan. — Less than 1 percent of the 29,030 men and women who registered here this summer for the Fall elections refused to tell their exact age, according to the elections commissioners. The State law provides that one may register "21 plus." When Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, prominent writer, protested to the Attorney-General when refused permission to register because she would not tell her exact age, the Attorney-General ruled that women could say they were over legal age. Fourteen men and 157 women decided to tell their ages.

"If you will do this you will have done more for the development of American political, social, and economic intelligence in my opinion than any one thing you could or can do during four years in the White House," Mr. Christensen added.

MEXICO CITY. — (By United Press). — The first indication of the possibility of serious dissension over the presidential elections Sunday developed when the new republican party formally protested against the candidacy of General Pablo Obregon, charging it violated the constitution.

NEW BOUNDARIES ARE FIXED

Additional Voting Precincts at Three Places

OTHERS ARE TO BE MADE

Changes Announced for Spencer-ville and Bluffton

Since the completion of additional voting precincts in the city, the Alton county board of elections has been endeavoring to fix boundaries for the new precincts in the county. The board for the past few days has been working toward this end. Practically all that remains to be done now is to procure the approval of the executive committees of the two parties.

Spencer-ville which has heretofore been composed of two precincts will have three, according to attaches of the local board yesterday afternoon. That town will be divided, with one precinct extending from Second street to the corporation line, one from Second street to Fifth street, and the remaining one from Fifth street to the corporation line.

Bluffton is divided into four precincts. Until now that town has had only two. Precinct A extends from Main street west to the corporation line, and from Church street north to the line. Precinct B is from Church street south to the line, and Main street west to the line. Precinct C includes territory from Main street east to the line and from Cherry street north to the line. Precinct D is from Main east to the line and Cherry south to the line.

In Shawnee township for many years citizens have been endeavoring to have the township house situated in the south precinct. Recently voters of that township took the matter up with the board of elections. They offered two suggestions for the new location of the building. Some citizens favor a boundary of the Amanda road and Buckeye road. Others desire Amanda road, Wapakoneta road, Zurnehy road, Britt and Sinclair road and Buckeye road. The latter suggestion makes the boundary extremely zig-zagged. Either of these two suggestions is satisfactory to the voters, it is understood. And either is satisfactory to the Democratic committee, it was announced yesterday.

American township has been changed. It is now divided into east and west precincts. The two precincts in that township now are bordered as follows:

West—North by township line; east by township line; south by township line; east by East Town road, Surf road and Lima-Gomer road.

East—North by township line; west by Surf road, East Town road and Lima-Gomer road; south by township line and east by township line.

The board is now working on the additional precincts in Delphos. These are practically arranged. It was announced by attaches. However, no definite action will be taken until committee men from Delphos can pass upon the new divisions.

LAST SESSION OF INSTITUTE

Future of Country Depends on Education of Youth

"The duty of the teacher is to teach the boys and girls so that they can preserve our country to posterity so that it will not follow the fate of Babylon and Rome," said Supt. C. W. Cookson, of Columbus, in his talk on "Our Country's History and its Relation to the School," at the Allen-Cook Teacher's Institute Friday.

Superintendent Cookson told how all great civilizations had decayed and fallen, how our own country was born, its history thru the Indian wars, the Revolutionary, Civil and World wars.

He claimed that no country can endure where the people are half free and half slave, where the factory laws injure women and children, where some have more money than they know what to do with it and others have none, where the schools are not as good as they might be and while there are profits and poverty, bribery and strikes.

"There is nothing so good as the public schools for democracy," Cookson said. "I believe that democracy is either sacrifice or service and America must live to illustrate to all other nations what a democracy is."

"Prof. M. A. Leiper, Bowling Green, Kentucky gave his final address Friday morning on 'Personality in the School.' He claims that a teacher must teach a child to think noble thoughts and to read good books.

"A teacher who influences a child to read a good book so that they understand it has done ten times more good than teaching the child a whole year of arithmetic or any other subject," he said.

Prof. Leiper said never to read a book that is not ten or 25 years old. Speaking on personality he said: "The school's biggest business is to build in the students a pleasing personality."

EQUALITY CLUB IS NO MORE

Succeeded by Women's League of Voters at Meeting Today

The final meeting for all time of the Political Equality Club of Lima was held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, after which the club will be known as the Women's League of Voters. The club which was organized here some years ago has a strong membership, and it is expected to be increased considerably by the admission of many new members, now that the league has been formed. Preceding the business session and election of officers, a citizenship school was conducted. Mrs. W. E. Crayton, one of the active suffrage workers in the county instructed the class on registration and how to vote. Speaking Friday, Mrs. Crayton stated that the time was drawing so close now for registration that they had decided not to go into details in political matters, but will teach the women how to register and vote. The other details can be taken up later.

THOROFARES TO BE RENAMED

Conflict of Names of Streets and Avenues Disclosed

Council will be asked Tuesday night to provide for the change in name of a number of Lima streets according to Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt.

The mayor declared a number of streets bear the same names of avenues in the city, often causing confusion and sometimes unnecessary expense for the city.

Some examples of this duplication of names, according to the mayor, are as follows: Maple-ave and Maple-ave, Findlay-st and Findlay-ave, Washington-ave and Washington-ave, Franklin-ave and Franklin-st. The mayor declared there are two Thorofares in the city known as Central-st.

Mayor Burkhardt said he will recommend that council give the residents of the street an opportunity to suggest names for the streets or avenues which must be changed. He said he favors requiring the street or avenue which has borne the present name for the shorter time being required to be renamed.

Relatives Claim Aged Man Was Forced to Sign Deed

Petition to set aside the deed of Joseph Stepleton to William R. Stepleton for lot 21, Bluffton, was filed in common pleas court Friday.

The petition sets forth the deed was secured thru undue influence brought to bear upon Stepleton, aged and infirm.

Mrs. Maude Newman and Mrs. Anna Grace brought the suit against their brother, William Stepleton, who died August 30, and his wife Frances. They charge that the elder Stepleton lived with the son and his wife for years and that by constant pressure they forced him to deed his property to them.

FROM OUR READERS

I desire to make a statement to the public, explaining my position on the gas question in Lima. As a member of the city council, elected by popular vote, I expect to handle the affairs of the citizens to their interest, to the best of my ability.

The gas question is one of vital interest to every citizen, and considering its importance I have made a thorough investigation, without regard to politics and entirely with a view to doing the best thing for the citizens of Lima.

After hearing the discussion in the city council at which representatives of the gas company were present, and making an investigation personally I have decided the only way Lima can have any assurance of an adequate gas supply for the next two years is to make a new contract with the company whereby artificial gas may be mixed with the natural product to be used for domestic purposes. If we must depend on natural gas, I am convinced that there will be actual suffering in Lima this winter, as the natural gas field has been so depleted that no definite pressure can be assured.

The gas company frankly admits that they have a contract for another year, and that they will carry out this contract to the best of their ability. This contract, however, is of little value, as it provides that they are to furnish gas insofar as the field permits.

What Lima must have, and what I intend to fight for, is a contract by which the gas company can be forced to give service. In other words, if they fail to give a two ounce pressure they will be forced to make a rebate of 50 per cent.

The gas company asks for a contract by which they may make 10 per cent. I am convinced that is a fair proposition, providing the 10 per cent is based on a fair valuation of the property.

The chief aim of the rate figured out by the franchise committee is to take care of the small consumer, who must have gas for domestic use.

To that end we have prepared the following scale: No service charge; First 1,000 cubic feet, $1.25; next 2,000 cubic feet, $1 per 1,000. This rate will then gradually increase until it will cost $1.50 for the ninth and tenth 1,000. After that it will be practically prohibitive in price.

which will naturally conserve the gas for the small consumer.

The above rates are only tentative, subject to change at any time that an audit of the company's books show they are making either more or less than 10 per cent on their investment. The books of the company are to be open for inspection at all times by city officials in order that it may be definitely determined what profit the gas company is making.

T. M. BERRY,
Chairman, Franchise Committee of Council.

COX STARTS WITH SUNRISE TALK

Before Breakfast Crowd at Toledo Finds Him Ready

DISCUSSES LABOR ISSUE

Takes Up Newberry Case in Michigan Speeches

ENROUTE WITH GOVERNOR COX—(By Associated Press)—The western "swing" of Governor Cox was opened early Tuesday with a before-breakfast, rear-platform address to a railroad station crowd at Toledo, while the Democratic candidate was enroute to Michigan.

"I'm starting for the coast," said Governor Cox to his sunrise audience. "We're in this fight to win. We will win because our cause deserves to win."

The league of nations was featured by the governor at Toledo.

In urging the league of nations at Toledo, Governor Cox referred to the present disagreement over German indemnities.

"The voice of America," he said, "must fix it. Now they say that we should substitute for the league the old Hague tribunal. That institution closed up before the war. I imagine there are bats in its belly and splinter-logs everywhere. It was a distinct failure having failed to prevent war in 1914. The opposition candidate says he will go back and open this old institution and try to keep house there."

MODERN IDEA
Declaring that the league "is the modern idea of bringing the nearest guarantee of peace," Governor Cox said it was a progressive plan, and that Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, stood for reaction as he had done also in opposing the new Ohio constitution.

The labor issue also was discussed by the governor who reiterated his charge that Republicans were receiving contributions from persons "who would substitute the bayonet for the golden rule under a reactionary national administration."

The "senatorial oligarchy," also was attacked at Toledo by the candidate who declared "it has stolen and taken charge of the Republican party."

Referring to the Harding front porch campaign, Governor Cox said that on his trip he was "going to see thousands of front porches from coast to coast in the belief that the front porch of the people is the seat of American sovereignty."

Governor Cox and his party were met at Toledo by a delegation of about twenty-five Michigan democrats headed by National Commissioner William E. Connolly and State Chairman Thaddeus B. Preston.

FIRST ADDRESS
In his first address in Michigan at Tecumseh, Governor Cox told a crowd of several hundred that he did not want to be regarded as the candidate of any political party, that he was making his campaign against "senatorial oligarchy" and in "the interest of the peace of the world."

Injecting local color by referring to the continuation of Senator Newberry, of Michigan, Governor Cox declared "it never was intended that the senate should annex the presidency or that large sums of money should be contributed to buy the presidency or a seat in the senate as had been attempted by Senator Newberry."

"I stand for peace as against war, a peace for all that will give no one advantage," Governor Cox said, reiterating his charge that large sums of money were being contributed by certain interests "to gain the inside track in reconstruction."

His five-minute address was cut short by the train pulling out.

At Clinton, Mich., the governor made a two-minute address upon the league and to another rear platform crowd, stressed the league, declaring that he had been for the league from the beginning and would be until election day.

"The Republican candidate has assumed at least three positions," said the governor. "And may be more, as I haven't yet read the morning papers."

Telling of widespread starvation in Europe, the candidate asserted that "Americans are going to have concern about starving people everywhere."

Repeating his attack on the "senatorial oligarchy," and naming Senator Newberry as one of its members, Mr. Cox said:

"I am attempting, my Republican friends, to help you get rid of the men that have taken possession of your party."

EVANGELIST IS KILLED
BY HIS OWN "CHURCH"

PARKER, Kan.—To be killed by the tent in which he had just held a services of revival meetings was the fate which overtook R. E. Young, an evangelist, near here. He was struck by two heavy poles while helping to take down his "moving church."

SURVEY APPROVED

HIS FISH TOO SHORT. MINISTER GETS FINE

BRATTLEBORO, Vt.—The lure of a trout stream, which caused the Rev. Edward W. Wild, of Westminster, to absent himself from the sessions of the Northfield, Mass., Conference, brought him a fine of $35 and costs in court here. He was fishing in a brook at Vernon when the Sheriff stopped to ask how they were doing.

The fisherman showed a catch of twenty-seven trout in his basket, but the Sheriff picked out several and saying they lacked the necessary length, summoned Mr. Wild to court on a charge of catching short trout. The minister said he had measured the fish by his hand and thought them long enough, but the court imposed a fine.

FINED FOR BEING DRUNK
Judge Emmet J. Jackson imposed a fine of $25 on A. C. Hall, 24, 1107 E. Kibben Friday morning after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness.

WOMEN PERMITTED TO SMOKE IN CHICAGO JAIL

CHICAGO.—Captain George F. Lee, warden of Chicago's famous Cook County jail, has sanctioned smoking by women inmates of the jail, Captain Lee says.

"The women prisoners are citizens just like the men. I won't discriminate. Just as long as the women follow the army system of returning their burned match ends to their match boxes and don't throw them on the floor they are welcome to enjoy a nice little smoke like the men prisoners. We are living in an age of women's rights, and what's good for the men must be good for the women."

LAKE STEAMER AGROUND
ASTABULA.—Steamer Watson, of the Tomlinson fleet went aground here Thursday night at 11:20. Forepeak and number one tank are full of water. Haze and smoke made it impossible to see lights of harbor. The vessel is in no danger.

SEVEN CENT CAR FARE RULES

Little Sunburned Tickets Are No Longer of Value

FARE BOOST CAME TODAY

Public Takes Kindly to Gaily Colored Car Tickets

Man, when you buy a strip of car tickets now that the new price has gone into effect, you get enough pasteboard to carry you all the way to San Francisco and back—the only trouble with it is that it isn't stamped right.

Car service went up in the air Wednesday morning, and with it about forty-seven thousand riders of the electric buses journeyed into the clouds.

It requires a half a dollar to buy a strip of tickets, but you get nine of 'em—pretty green printing on nice white paper, all decorated in beautiful scarlet.

But when you get the old pencil and paper out and start figuring, it begins to look like the car company either slipped up on their rules or expect to induce the riding public to pay cash fares only. Nine tickets for fifty cents gives you one ride for about five and one-ninth cents or only a ninth of a cent more than cash fares were before. But cash fares are seven cents each now, and that's where the company expects to make us "lack" now.

Friday morning when one got on a street car to come down town for his daily labors, he found the entrance clogged with would-be riders trying to argue the conductor into taking one of the old brown tickets—but he couldn't be argued, so fifty-cent pieces were called into action.

More people opened their pocket-books Friday morning and bought car tickets than ever before in the history of this "fare" city, so the legend goes. One car conductor, when he took his "steed" out of the barns this morning, had $25 worth of the brand new passports in his jeans. At seven o'clock he was checking up his morning sales and discovered that there was just $6.50 worth left.

Big business—eh? Fretting and fuming and trying to put something over on the guardians of the ride fails to bring you anything. The eagle eye of the man at the far box grasps it all and he makes you come across. But just the same, the people of Lima are taking the advance inmates pretty nicely. There was a lot of change made and a lot of delay as a result, Wednesday morning, but things are getting straightened out and cars are beginning to run on schedule.

The weather of the green has "kayped" the sunburned pasteboard that ruled before today, and it now takes one of the new highly bedecked and embossed tickets to get any place in Lima.

Commencing September 1, 1932, wild dove may be shot up to and including December 15, according to an official statement from A. C. Baxter, deputy state game warden. ### FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MONROE-TP PIONEER

JAMES CRANE, ARE HELD
Funeral services for James Crane, 74, pioneer resident of Monroe-tp, were held Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Swinehart, 223 W. Spring-st. The Rev. Ralph Kohr, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiated. Interment was made in Campbell cemetery, near Rockport.

Mr. Crane had made his home for the past several years with Mr. and Mrs. Swinehart, relatives and who gave him every care in his last illness, which extended over the last few weeks. He never married and up to the death of his sister about four years ago in Columbus Grove, they made a home for each other. Since that time he resided with Mr. and Mrs. Swinehart. He was a retired farmer and widely-known in northern Allen and southern Putnam-cos.

DIVORCE EVIL IS BAD FOR BABES

French Authorities Seek to Head Off Marital Breaks

By NEWTON C. PARKER.

PARIS.—A startling increase in the number of divorces since the war has practically wiped out all the benefits accruing to France from a national-wide campaign for more and better babies.

The divorce evil has reached such alarming proportions that sociologists are turning their attention from the baby campaign in an effort to head off the crowds besieging the divorce courts. They point out that their movement for the repopulation of France will be of no avail if young married people continue to sever marital ties.

In 1913, a record divorce year, the legal separations granted in Paris totaled 5,160. In 1919 the number reached 8,097, and it is estimated that before the present year passes more than 10,000 couples will have been divorced in the capital alone.

"The divorce is almost the fashion," writes Henry Bordeaux, one of the best known of modern French writers. "There is no longer any feeling of shame attached to it."

"What are causes of this evil—what are the causes involved by married people who ask separations? In the greater part of the unions contracted before the war I find the same complaint, the same allusion to the past—we were happy before the war, the war came and separated us, and now that we are able to live together again, we no longer wish to."

Among the complaints made by husbands, we must mention that infidelity is the most frequent. The women tried to live their own lives, but only gave proof of their faithfulness. Many a family that had lived in happiness before the war, was broken up when the husband went to war. One old man whom I knew was stupefied on his return to find that his fifty-year-old wife had run away with an American soldier. Another came back to resume his business only to find that his wife had given everything away to a youthful lover. The women who were too weak abandoned everything in their folly—husbands, children, situations and relatives, to try new lives.

NEW YORK.—Sugar bowls placed in dining room for immigrants at Ellis Island for the first time since the war, start riot. Several aliens are removed to hospitals with fractured ribs.

EX-CONFEDERATE, 88 YEARS OLD, GLAD TO GET OUT OF JAIL

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Van S. Bell, 88 years old, nearly blind and of failing mind, was freed from jail by a contribution of newspaper reporters who heard of his plight. Mr. Bell, who fought the Yankees in the civil war and spent time in a northern prison camp, recently had an altercation with a tenant who occupied his house and was found guilty of breach of peace and sent to jail for eight days. Newspaper men "passed the hat" and freed him before he had served a full day.

"This reminds me of when I was taken prisoner at Shiloh," said the old man as he tottered from his cell. "I hadn't thought of it for twenty-five years. I was taken on the last day of the battle after a hand-to-hand fight with the Yanks. I had an arm broken and a musket ball in my shoulder."

"They treated me very nice at the jail, but I don't want any more trouble. I'm getting too old for that now. My mind's fixed on getting to heaven."

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank our friends and neighbors, and also the L. O. O. F., The M. W. A. and Knights of the K. L. G. for their beautiful floral offerings, also the Rev. Deacon for his words of consolation, in the sad bereavement of my husband, Mrs. Chas. F. Anspach.

"BATH" LOST ART IN SERBIA

Red Cross Finds Habits of the People Deplorable

VRAJKE, Serbia.—There was a time in Vrajke when the people included whatever the Serbian word for bath may be in their everyday vocabularies and not infrequently suited the action to the word, but that was hundreds of years ago. Today it is with difficulty that the envoys of the American Red Cross at Vrajke are teaching the people the practical meaning of the word. And yet, of all the towns in Serbia, Vrajke is the one which should be most familiar with baths, and bathing for it is the home of the biggest and oldest Turkish bath establishment in the country. The ancient baths were built in the sixteenth century by the Turks themselves, who then ruled the country. They are housed in an ancient stone structure with a red tile roof.

The water, in the days when the baths were operating, flowed into huge vats above the primitive underground furnaces from a spring whose crystal stream, now released, still bubbles thru the vaulted cellars of the ancient establishment. The steam from the vats was led to the rooms above thru channels cut in the solid rock walls of the building, for in the days when the Vrajke baths were constructed there was no such things as an iron or lead pipe in all of Serbia.

Today the Vrajke baths are deserted. Bathing is a ritual of which the city's population has known nothing for generations. The youth of the town are learning the art from the Red Cross workers feeding and caring for the children of the poor, but the elders still look on the regular oblation of the body as a troublesome superfluity, and the ancient baths of Vrajke may crumble into ruins were the subterranean steam cats boil and bubble again.

PET DOG GRIEVES FOR MASTER; VACATION CUT

BURLINGTON, N. J.—To save the life of a pet dog that apparently was grieving itself to death over his absence, the Rev. Norman B. McConnell, pastor of the Riverside, N. J. Methodist Church, has returned from his vacation.

For two weeks since the day the clergyman left for a Summer rest, the dog refused to eat, and a veterinarian decided the only trouble with the animal was grief.

Efforts to tempt the dog with choice morsels of meat failed, and the animal refused to leave its owner's doorstep. A friend wrote to the pastor, and he came home at once. The hound feebly expressed its delight when he appeared, and broke its long fast when he offered it food.

SUFFRAGE IS IN HIGH FAVOR

county Teachers Believe All Women Should Vote

AGAINST WOMEN IN OFFICE

Teachers Attending Institute Are Interviewed

Judging from the opinions of six school teachers and educators interviewed in regard to the suffrage question, teachers as a whole are practically all in favor of women suffrage. Prof. C. W. Cookson, superintendent of the Franklin-co. schools, who is one of the speakers at the county institute being held this week at Central high school, emphatically declares that women should vote.

Superintendent Cookson said: "I certainly endorse the movement. I cannot see why it would not be just, and I sincerely believe it would be conducive to more thorough knowledge of our government and its functions."

Allen-co School Superintendent C. A. Arganbright also favors woman suffrage and remarked: "Women should exercise the right to vote. There is no need of having the franchise without using it, and I think that it is their duty to take an interest in government affairs and vote on various matters of public welfare."

A canvass of the women teachers who are attending the institute shows that they are of the same opinion as the men educators. Mrs. Cora Baxter, Delphos, for many years a teacher in this county said: "Women certainly ought to vote. We should, as good American teachers, instill in not only the minds of the boys but also the girls, who are to be the future voters, the rudimentary principles of the country they live in. Voting on different subjects will do more to clear up the difficulties that are arising every day, and the school is the best place to help form sane, unbiased opinions of these subjects."

Miss Clara Holmes, Toledo, one of the young teachers attending the institute, said: "I think that all women should vote and should have knowledge regarding various national and civic affairs."

Miss S. A. Stewart, Lima, said: "I am for women voting, but not for holding public office. Where would the children of today be, if the mothers spent all of their time away from home, as they would have to do, provided they were holding responsible positions in public life. However, I think that the women are just as capable as the men, and judging the candidate best fitted for public office, and should exercise their right now that it has been granted to them."

Miss Barbara Snider, 859 W. North-st., said: "Indeed I am emphatically in favor of woman suffrage. I expect to vote for a principle and know that my vote will not be lost, even if the candidate I am supporting fails to win in the race."

HAPPY REUNIONS ATTENDED OUTING OF HOME CHILDREN

There was a human interest side and happy reunions as a result of the Children's home outing to the Auglaize-co fair Wednesday.

One man, who had four children in the home visited the fair, especially to see them. It was a glad day daddy had with his kiddies the short time they were on the grounds.

As the big machines pulled away from the grounds, he looked longingly at those which carried away his darlings—all he had left.

He had lost his wife by death. A poor laborer, he could not care for his little ones. So he placed them in the home. He is a residence of Auglaize-co.

Several persons in that county who had adopted children from the home brought them in to mingle with their former playmates. And such a happy time they had.

Three little tots from Lima, who were former residents at the home, but have been adopted into good families, went out to Mr. and Mrs. Higby's home early Wednesday morning. They stayed for dinner and went with the outing party to Wapakoneta.

They have never missed a single outing, it was announced, since they left the home.

U. S. RAISINS IMPORT GREATEST IN YEARS

WASHINGTON—Nearly eight million pounds of raisins were exported from Malaga, Spain, to the United States during the first six months of 1920, a quantity that exceeds the total raisin export from that port for the seven-year period, 1913 to 1919, inclusive, according to the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture. Practically the entire 1919 Malaga raisin stocks have been exhausted and there are no stocks on hand. The new crop will appear on the market between August 25 and 30. "The American council reports that there is prospect of increased production. The raisin growers are looking for a continuation of the great demand for raisins in the United States."

MOSQUITOES BAD AT CAMP PERRY

Lima Soldiers Fight 'Em—Local Boy Permanent Orderly

Francis Ponnabel, one of the local boys with Company C at Camp Perry for the annual state meet, writes the following account of their trip Wednesday morning to the camp located on Lake Erie:

Company C, more than 100 strong, left Lima together with the local cavalry company of 65 members Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, over the R. and O. Arrived at Camp Perry shortly after 2:30 o'clock the same afternoon. The Lima boys greatly enjoyed the trip, and arrived with the largest contingent of men in camp.

Friends of the Lima boys will be glad to learn that Major Johnson and General Hough, of the head quarter staff at the camp, greatly commended the Lima company and stated that they are the best drilled band of men in camp. Captain Clark Stunt, of Lima, gave a talk on military discipline before the train pulled into camp. Every man in the company is working hard to maintain the reputation already gained. The first night after arrival, the Lima boys were on guard duty, and one of the Company C boys was chosen permanent orderly at headquarters.

The first night was spent very profitably, fighting mosquitoes which seemingly are as large as canaries, but otherwise are all working hard, and having a bully time.

THE ROOM WITH THE TASSELS

By Carolyn Wells

"You really believe that, Professor?"

"I really do, Braye, and moreover I am convinced that the disappearance of—of little Vernie, is the work of the evil spirit. What else can explain it?"

"Nothing that I know of, but I can't swallow the idea of a disembodied spirit making off with a real, material body! I wish I'd been here! I didn't anybody see or hear anything!"

"No," declared Landon, but Norma gave a quick glance at Eve, who returned it with a defiant toss of her Titian-colored head.

"Why do you look at me like that, Norma?" she asked, shortly.

"Why do I?" Norma repeated in a soft, insignificant tone. "I think you know, Eve."

"Well, I for one, shall stay up here for a time, and see how matters go on," said Braye, with sudden determination. "Who else wants to stay?"

"I do," said Professor Hardwick, "I think we've by no means seen the last of the manifestations, and too I feel there is a danger, I am ready to brave it for the sake of investigation further."

"I don't want to stay," and Milly shook with nervous apprehension. "Can't we go home, Wynne?"

"Very soon, darling. You can go at once, and I'll follow soon as things are adjusted up here. I think none of us ought to seem to run away."

"Certainly not," Tracy agreed, promptly. "The whole affair is so astounding, I can scarcely get my wits together, but I see clearly, no one must leave this house, until we are all exonerated from suspicion."

"Not even me?" asked Milly, tearfully.

"That's for you and Mr. Landon to decide," returned Tracy, gently. "I'm not dictating, not even advising, but I have strong opinions on the subject. What say, Braye?"

"I quite agree with you, Tracy. But I'm sure if Mrs. Landon prefers to go down to New York and stay at her mother's no one could possibly object."

"But I don't!" Milly surprised them all by saying, "if you put it that way, if it's cowardly to go away, I don't want to go. I want to stay, if Wynne does, and if Eve and Norma stay."

"That's my brave girl," and Landon smiled at his wife; "I'll guarantee that Milly won't make any trouble, either. Once she's awake to a duty, she's bold as a lion. Now, we here, if Crawford stirs up suspicion of any of us, we'll have to deal with him pretty roughly. I fear he's a pig-headed sort, and he will move heaven and earth to gain his point. Moreover, we can't expect him to subscribe to spook theories, any more than those men Rudolph talked to in New York. One has to go thru some such experiences as we have, to believe in them. You, Professor, would never have been convinced by hearsay evidence, would you?"

"No, sir, I would not." It took these otherwise inexplicable happenings to prove to me that there is but one way to look. Even a coroner can't produce a human criminal who could kill those two people the way they were killed, and we could get into and out of this house and take a human body with him! The thing is preposterous!"

"You know the doors and windows were all locked?" asked Braye, thoughtfully.

"I looked after them, myself," said Landon. "I always do. After the last one goes upstairs for the night, I invariably look after the locking up. And the house, properly locked is impregnable. The sur-understand it. Well, why don't you investigate? You swallow all them ghosts and hauntings, and never look around to see who's fooling you!"

"But, Doctor Crawford, what you insinuate is not possible. All the strange things we have seen or heard have occurred at night, or, yes, occasionally in the daytime, but always when Mr. Stebbins was at his home in East Dryden."

"How do you know he was?"

"Why, he has never been to the house at all, except two or three times on commonplace errands, since we've been here. The supernatural manifestations we have observed had no more to do with him than they had with you!"

"That's as may be. Only I advise you to investigate with a little common sense and not too much blind faith in your spook visitors. Now, Mr. Landon, I take it you're boss around here."

"I'm responsible for the house rent, if that's what you mean."

"Well, that'll do. Now, sir, there's got to be an inquest. I expected, of course, to hold it on the two bodies, but since one's gone, we'll have to do what we can without it. I don't deny that this case is beyond all my experience. I've sent for a detective from New York, and I'll get all the other help I need. But I'm all at sea, myself, and I make no secret of that."

"I thought you suspected Eli Stebbins."

"Not of murder! No, sir! Me'n Eli, we ain't good friends, haven't been for years, and I wouldn't put it past him to play ghost to scare you city people, but murder! Land, no, I wouldn't ever accuse Eli Stebbins of goin' that far."

"Wait a minute, Doctor Crawford. Nobody was in the room at the time of those two deaths, but our own party. You don't suspect one of us, do you?"

"No, Mr. Landon, I don't. You ain't a gay crowd, nor yet a fast common crowd. You're all high-toned, quiet, law-abiding citizens,—as I size you up. To be sure, decent

I know Mr. Braye will inherit the money that old Mr. Bruce left, and I know that you're related there, too, but I haven't seen one lot of reason to suspect any one of your crowd. If I do, I'll let you know mighty quick! Nor can I hang it on the Thorpes; nor yet on those girls they have in to help. And that's what the inquest's for. To bring out, if possible, some evidence against somebody, so's we can get a start."

"I fear you can't get that evidence, Doctor, for if there were any we would have found it ourselves. You have my good wishes, for if it is a case of murder, committed by a living, human villain, we must assuredly want him apprehended."

OPEN LETTERS

To Lima Policemen

DEAR BOBBIES: I have been taking note of the manner in which you enforce the provisions of the traffic law. I just want to say that I think you exhibit mighty good judgment, taking circumstances into consideration before hauling somebody before the court for turning wrong, parking in forbidden places, "cutting" corners and in other ways violating the law.

Quite often, strangers driving into the city are not acquainted with the traffic laws here and unconsciously fall into error. I notice that first offenders are not always arrested, but when some "smart guy" comes along and tries to be "cute" when his attention is called to a violation, I don't blame you for "pinching" him. Cops are not on duty to get people into trouble, but to keep them out of trouble. A lot of folks don't seem to realize this, but it is true.

LIMA BEANE

To Motorcyclists

YE SPEEDERS: Here's a little kick I'm going to file with you, on behalf of others who are annoyed by the flagrant manner in which you violate the law by "burning up" the city pavements, particularly those running north and south, at all times of day and night, with the mufflers on your machines open.

Your failure to observe the law doesn't bother me personally, for if you attempted to speed over the street on which I have my habitation, you'd meet up with disaster, as it is too rough for that sort of travel. Some of my friends, residing on paved streets, are kicking like fun about the noise the motor bikes make in the early hours of the morning as they carry you "on the wings of the morning" as 'twere, to your places of employment. Close the cut-out and contribute to the peace, quiet and good order of the city.

To Members of Council

DEAR CITY DADS: Inclination on the part of certain members of your body to feel it their duty to submit all questions of greater or less importance to a referendum of the people is a mistaken idea, as I see it. The people elect you to office to transact their public business. They'll be satisfied if you proceed carefully, investigate thoroughly and act only after having taken into consideration the best interests of the general public. Act fearlessly, as your conscience dictates, playing square, as I feel you honestly try to do. You'll make mistakes; everybody does that. But if they are honest mistakes, nobody is going to hold them against you.

To the American Legion

DEAR FRIENDS: I want to commend you for providing clean boxing bouts for the entertainment of Lima boxing fans. Entertainments of this character you have staged in the past have been fully up to expectations and you are certainly to be congratulated for having been able to arrange a bout for the fly-weight championship of America, Frankie Mason of Ft. Wayne to defend his title against Johnny Roemer of New York, next Thursday night, at Memorial Hall. I've looked over your card for Thursday; it's some class. You ought to have an attendance of fans that will tax the capacity of Memorial Hall.

To City Officials

GENTLEMEN: Every day I notice the growing need of a centrally-located comfort station. Nearly every city has one or more. I have none. There are several places available for such a station, preferably the public square. Will you kindly look into this matter?

To Labor's Representatives

DEAR FRIENDS: That you have decided to observe Labor Day—Monday—in a fitting manner is altogether timely and commendable. It is your day, a time for pleasure and recreation. Your plan of holding a picnic is a mighty fine thing. The opportunity will be afforded for many families to get together at McCullough's park, where a baseball game and other contests as well as games will afford splendid entertainment.

I notice too that you'll have speakers for the occasion, and that a band concert and fireworks will feature the evening. It should be an enjoyable event and I know it will. Hats off to the Trades and Labor Council for planning the event.

LIMA BEANE

To Lima Newcomers

DEAR FRIENDS: There are so many people coming into Lima these days, to engage in business or take employment here, that it's impossible for any one particular person to meet and greet you as you enter the city gates, but personally I'm so proud of the city I call my home that I'd like to meet every one of you as you come into the city and extend the strong grip of welcome, with a booster word for the best inland city in the world. And that goes.

LIMA BEANE

To Automobileists

DEAR FLIVVER ENGINEERS: While on the theme of motors, I respectfully call to your attention, the fact that you too are guilty quite too often of skidding about the city with the mufflers of your gas wagons wide open. You also ought to cut it out.

And here's a grunt in my own behalf. Too many of you fellows court the danger of killing somebody by seeing how close you can pass by a pedestrian without hitting him. It may be a lot of fun for you, but for the fellow afoot it's a nerve cracker. Stop it!

LIMA BEANE

To Mayor Burkhardt

MY DEAR FRANK: You apparently believe in sticking on the job until you get what you go after. This thought is prompted by the fact that I note you are again boosting the aviation landing field proposition.

Lima is big enough and important enough to be made a regular landing place for cross country planes and Lima ought to be sufficiently enterprising to provide a landing field.

Stay with it Frank; you'll probably get the right sort of support after awhile in your effort to put Lima on the air route map.

To Lima Elks

HELLO, BILL! I understand your state convention is to be held in Lima next week, I'm mighty glad of that; if there is any one thing more desirable than to have a lot of Elks in the old town, it's more Elks. Hope there'll be a lot of the glad boys from other parts of the state here to see you next week and enjoy the generous round of entertainment that is to be provided. I'm strong for a good time such as only the Elks know how to provide. Let's go!

LIMA BEANE

To Rotary and Kiwanis

FELLOW CITIZENS: Now that the baseball series between clubs representing your organizations has come to an end and Kiwanis walked away with the trophy, I hope you'll forget all about it and not stage another series until next summer, at least. I also would like to suggest that perhaps the adoption of Marquis of Queensberry rules would be appropriate should you conclude to put on another diamond battle.

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

WHAT IS PNEUMONIA?

It is customary for a doctor to conduct the post-mortem investigation at the close of a case upon which he has put an artistic, workmanlike finish. But I am going to do the post-mortem at the beginning here, just for the novelty of the thing. A reader whose family had influenza, writes, in part:

"We all started to convalesce but my husband, on whose lung the doctor found a spot after he had been in bed four days. So the doctor cautioned him not to get out of bed. But on the following day, with his temperature 103 degrees, while I was attending to the children, he went to the bathroom and shaved. That night his temperature went up 101 and the next morning it was 103. Two nurses... consultation with Dr. C... and with Dr. M... but in spite of all he succumbed in three days. Do you think it might have been from exposure in crossing the hall to the bathroom? Or might it have been because we didn't have enough fresh air? It was bitter cold and a strong wind and I thought it wise, but the nurses kept the windows open all the time. He had never been sick a day in his 31 years and had done hard farm work always."

Moral: Doctor's orders should be obeyed. Why employ a doctor if you do not intend to follow his advice?

In this autopsy we encounter a very common condition, namely, the fear of fresh air, or rather an effect of that fear.

Pneumonia has several titles. Lung fever is a good old name for it, because it conveys more meaning than the pneumonia. Ultra-scientific doctors have even proposed pneumonitis—presumably to signify lung inflammation, but this is too ugly a word. Pluro-pneumonia is also an old term for it, emphasizing the fact that usually some pleurisy (inflammation of the lung covering membrane) goes with pneumonia. Hippocrates confounded pneumonia with pleurisy, and wasn't so far wrong at that. Lobar pneumonia is a familiar term in medical parlance meaning that the inflammation is usually limited to one or more entire lobes of the lung, the right lung has three lobes, the left two.

Lung fever is the most satisfactory name because the general fever and the general systemic poisoning that characterizes pneumonia is the important feature of the disease, not the degree of involvement of the lung. The seriousness of lung fever lies in the injury the poisons or toxins of the pneumonia germ (Pneumococcus) do to the heart and the nervous system. If the patient dies he succumbs usually to the effect of this poisoning of his system, he is exhausted in heart exhaustion or in exhaustion of the nervous system, suffocation or oxygen hunger is rarely a grave factor in lung fever.

There is another disease of very different type, unfortunately also called pneumonia. This is broncho pneumonia, better known to the older physicians as capillary bronchitis and to still older ones as suffocative catarrh. In this condition the disease of lung involvement is the determining factor, and the systemic state is largely secondary. Broncho pneumonia is usually a gradual development upon a preliminary bronchitis. Lung fever is not broncho pneumonia; it is essentially bronchitis extending down into the very tissues, tubes and then some lung tissue is independent of bronchial inflammation.

JUST A GIRL

BY JANE PHELPS

A STRANGE, HELPFUL FRIENDSHIP

Mary had been in the house only half a day and yet I already was beginning to feel a dependence upon her. Just before she bade me good-night she said:

"I ain't trying to make you tell me nothing," Zena Stewart, and don't go thinking so. But I know something's worryin' you. Don't let it! Grit your teeth and tell them all to go straight to—you know where. A girl has to if she is poor and needs work. And don't give in to the blues. They're bad for you. And don't let freshies worry you neither. They can't hurt you."

"Oh, but it does hurt! Just to think they take me for that kind of a girl hurts. You see, Mary, I had a wonderful father. I loved him dearly. He used to say he wanted his girl to be good, really good, more than anything else. I think if there was nothing else, that would always keep me good—to please Dad. And when I think people doubt me in any way it makes me terribly unhappy."

You mustn't let it! You can't have everything in this world. You can't be poor and thin-skinned too. Some folks expect an awful lot," she said this so comically that I laughed.

"That's right, laugh a little! It sort of helps a lot to laugh. A girl has to have a little fun once in a while even if I have to make it for a certain one I know."

"Will you come in and have a cup of tea with me in the morning?" I asked. "I make it myself." "I'll be here with my hair in a braid," she declared, then ran away to her room.

But I soon forgot all about Mary Murphy in thinking of other things. My quest for work, Mother—and Kenneth Lawrence. What would this man who talked about not being able to breathe in cities, think if he knew of what I had been suspected? I sat down and wrote him a letter, giving him my address but saying nothing of my changed circumstances. An address would mean nothing to him as far as having any idea of the locality went.

But after I had written that letter, I tore it up. I would not put him in the position that such a letter would. If I couldn't be perfectly honest with him, I would have nothing to say to him—ever.

Thoughts of Kenneth Lawrence were never conducive to sleep. So

I lay wide-eyed until almost morning, trying to see just a little way into the future; trying to brace up my determination to win success and money for a home for mother.

I thought, too, of that flashy young fellow in the restaurant. Would I have that sort of thing too in my life? Mary said I would—that she did. But he never had spoken to me when alone. I would tell Mary she must be more quiet in public. I was sure she would not be offended.

I wondered what Mother would think of Mary. She WAS funny. Dad would understand. He would have appreciated loneliness, and all that it meant to me. He would know and understand the longing for companionship which made me grasp eagerly at the offer from the first young girl I had met, even though she were an uneducated girl like Mary. If her heart were all right, Dad would never cavil at any deficiencies of education.

Before my tea was quite ready, Mary came in:

"Oh, I forgot to rap. I ought to, oughtn't I?"

"Yes, Mary. I am afraid you ought. Then, for fear she would think I was trying to correct her, I added: "Mother never allowed me to go in anyone's room without rapping, not even her's or Dad's."

Without a word Mary went out into the hall, and rapped on the door.

"Come in," I said laughing. "The top of the mornin' to yees!" she affected a brogue.

"Oh, how good it seems to have some one my own age near me," I could not help saying. "I have been so lonely, Mary. You see, I don't know a soul in Chicago."

"Well, you do now!" And I mistook it if it wasn't the best thing Mary Murphy ever done when she beat Mrs. Lynch down 50 cents and took that room. I don't mean best for you—I wouldn't be so bold. But best for me. I ain't never had any chance to talk to a girl like you before. I didn't sleep a wink wonderin' if I ever could learn to sling the language the way you do—so natural like too."

"Of course you will! I'll help you, teach you all I can if you want me to."

"Want you to? Why I'd go down on my knees to you if you'd do that! You don't know how I want to know things."

YOUR NAME

By PHILIP FRANCES NOWLAN.

VARIATION—Griffiths.

RACIAL ORIGIN—Welsh. SOURCE—A given name. The family name of Griffith, or Griffiths, like that of Bethel, is one which is derived from a given name now seldom found, though why it should have fallen into disuse is one of those mysteries about which one can only conjecture, for it is a name of the same type as John, which, in its various forms, is one of the most popular of given names in a dozen or more different tongues, and always has been since the beginning of the Christian era in each land. While the name of John is from the Hebrew, meaning "God's grace," the name of Griffith or "Griffudh" to use a spelling more significant of that in the Welsh language, is derived from two Welsh words meaning "great faith."

It is only in comparatively modern times that Welsh family names really have been stabilized. They developed in much the same fashion as the English names which denote "where," but the duration of one of the stages thru which such names develop was much prolonged among the Welsh. As "John Richardson" in English meant "John, the son of Richard," so "Evan ap Griffith" in Welsh meant "Evan (or John), the son of Griffith." But whereas among the English such a name came to be given not only to a man's sons, but also to his grandsons and great-grandsons, thus losing its purely descriptive character and becoming a family name, the initial stage of the family name was greatly prolonged among the Welsh. Thus the son of "Evan ap Grmudh" would be known as "Owen ap Evan," and his son in turn as "Griffudh ap Owen," and so on for several centuries instead of a few generations. Tomorrow—Lee.

HUSBAND IN JAIL, WIFE DIVORCED

Another Chapter in the Career of E. F. James

Mrs. Louella Johnson James, bride of June last, was divorced in common pleas court at Ottawa Thursday from her husband, E. F. James.

The decree was granted on the grounds that James is now confined in the Ottawa jail, where he is awaiting investigation of the coming grand jury on the charge of passing forged checks.

The Putnam county sheriff, Mrs. James' father and herself were the only ones called to testify. The sheriff declared he had James in custody. The woman's father told of how he was forced to go on James' bond until he got his daughter home, when he refused to serve longer.

It was then the fact was made known to James that he would be forced to remain in jail until his case was acted upon. He was removed from Allen-co to Putnam, with the understanding he would be returned here whenever prosecuting Attorney John L. Cable should want him.

James is wanted for passing spurious checks in Putnam-co, as well as on Lima merchants. To Lima police he confessed he passed the bad paper to provide his wife an elaborate honeymoon.

At the preliminary hearing before Judge Emmitt Jackson, Mrs. James announced she would seek divorce. She entered the suit shortly after her husband was safely behind the bars of the Ottawa jail.

As she told her story seeking the divorce, her husband was only a few feet away, in an iron cell, with an opportunity to think over the past and conjure the future.

Mrs. James comes from a well-to-do family at Centerville where the marriage took place. It is said she turned down several of the country swains of the neighborhood for her husband, because of his ability to show her better times than the ordinary farmer boys she knew.

Mrs. James is 22. Her husband is 39.

REVENUE OFFICE NEEDS CLERK

Many Seek Information Concerning Making of Cider

Deputy revenue collector George Barkull, postoffice building, has been fairly "swamped" with anxious persons desiring to make cider, now that the season is upon us, and yet undecided whether or not the law will permit them to do so. For the benefit of those who are desirous of making cider for their own consumption, revenue officials point out that cider, provided it contains less than half of one per cent of alcohol, is permissible.

The cider cannot be sold however, unless the one who has made it obtains a license from the local revenue office.

Investigations are being made among many local local merchants in regard to their negligence in reporting war taxes. Not all merchants are to be classed as negligent, but revenue officials have been investigating many cases which have come to their notice. Likewise, they are keeping a watchful eye on all places where refreshments, ice cream and small taxable articles are being sold, as some dealers are failing to make returns to the local office, according to Collector Barkull.

It is expected that an office clerk will be obtained for the Lima office, so that the deputy collector will have only outside work to attend to, such as investigations, visiting business houses and the like. A young man, with college education, and some business experience is preferred.

EX-SERVICE MEN SLOW IN MAKING APPLICATION FOR VICTORY MEDALS

Did you serve in the U. S. army during the world war, and have you received your Victory button? Is the question asked ex-service men by Lima recruiting officers. Already 500 medals have been presented at the local office to former soldiers, but that is only about a sixth of the men who were in service in the county, and the remainder have neglected to obtain their medals. The medals were struck off in the government mints, and are well worth having and keeping. Applications for them must be made at the local army recruiting station, upon presentation of honorable discharges from the army.

SHIMMERING GOWN FOR EVENING WEAR

BY MARGARET

It may be a bit early to talk about formal evening gowns, but some shops are already showing such gorgeous creations that the very sight of them makes one long for the winter ball and receptions. Satins and metal brocades, as well as chiffon velvets, are among the favorites for formal wear during the coming season. Beading, sequins and tulle are the favored trimmings.

Here is a shimmering gown which made me gasp a long while "how I only I wore once I might have described it as shimmering-moonlight-on-the-sea effect, but being merely a chronicle of fashions whims, I must state cold facts. An overdress of sequins in brilliant dresden is hung from the shoulders over a satin foundation. It is cut low in the front and back and the side. Satin fills in the bodice and equal collar and tulle is gathered to form hip tapes or mantles. Two huge cabbage roses (an ugly garden name for such beautiful blossoms) seem incongruous are placed at the left side and form the finishing touch to an exquisite formal frock.

Note the leather handbag. Some such fancy arrangement is to be quite fashionable this year, and leather and jeweled combs are to play a large part in the evening coiffures of midday.

Mrs. Virgil DeGrief, S. Metcalf-st., charmingly entertained the members of the Ideal club at her home Thursday afternoon. There were eighteen members in attendance and responses to roll call were accounts of the summer outings. The remainder of the afternoon was spent socially after which the hostess served a delicious luncheon.

Thoughtful Mothers Who Select Their Youngsters' Apparel

With a care for the comfort, attractiveness and service of each and every garment, will find eager helpfulness awaiting them on the part of the selling organization at FELDMAN'S.

Comfort is the first consideration in the sale of children's garments. Warmth is essential, and to be entirely comfortable they must fit correctly.

Attractiveness next receives attention. It is just as simple, and far more satisfying to dress children in smart togger than to "make anything to do while they're young."

Service—The durability of the materials, the character of the workmanship and the wearability of the colorings must necessarily be given thought.

"I can and do realize how extreme, fantastical and far-fetched the expression 'millions now living will never die' must seem to many. But it has been exactly the same with all other prophetic truths presented by Bible students for the past 15 years, and yet notwithstanding the scoffing of the 'wise,' one by one, all of these things have come to pass just as it had been pointed out that the SCRIPTURES foretold. We have no desire to force our conclusions, but the man or woman who is the most incredulous and the most 'hard headed' will stand amazed and convinced if he or she will examine the evidence with unprejudiced mind, providing that he or she really believes the Bible."—W. ## LOVE AND MARRIED LIFE

BY LIDA MCGLONE GIBSON

ADVICE TO DAUGHTER MARY

ADVICE TO DAUGHTER MARY
Perhaps, my dear, having read this little book which I am going to place in your hands, you will want to know when your "Daddy Karl" and I came to the conclusion that we could live a more successful and beautiful life if we lived it together than if each should go the way alone.

You will be somewhat surprised, my dear, in fact, I was surprised myself, on looking back over my life, to find that Karl Shepard never definitely proposed to me. He never asked me, Mary, in so many words, to marry him. He never put that question to me, which is said that a man always puts before marriage and a woman always asks after. Karl Shepard has never said to me, "Do you love me?" He never asserted, "I love you."

There has never been any analysis of our feeling for each other and yet I know I am a part of him. There is a peculiar oneness between us that makes it impossible for me to even separate myself from him in my thoughts. And I am quite sure that he never thinks of himself unless the thought includes me.

We are perfectly content. I am not quite sure, my dear, if the words happiness and content are synonymous. Indeed, I think one can be content without knowing the great heights of happiness and one can be happy and still long for a passive level of content.

I know now, my child, that you are saying, "There you go, mother dear, playing with the spiritual, instead of the obvious meaning of words." But I must tell you, dear, that whether you consciously or unconsciously deduce these spiritual meanings, being a woman, you will have to live by them.

Men, by long years of evasion, have been able to forget, or lay aside anything but the obvious. And because they do this they have put upon us, my child, the duty not only of bearing the consequence of their forgetting, but they have also made us the custodians of the realities.

But this much comfort I will give you, dear: However much most women rebel against this duty at your time of life, they come, at last, to accept it not only contentedly, but with a kind of proud happiness. Then, my child—there I have just written the difference between, and the definition of, the words content and happiness.

Fate, after all, is inexorable, not because we are not free agents, but because we are unable to blind, while Fate goes on coldly and sometimes it seems to us, cruelly, marking the pattern of that chanceable thing we call destiny.

Looking back, tonight after reading this story of my other life, I am wondering if I would have been a happy wife to Karl if I had never been the wife of John. Or, if John had come back from that tragic ride and we had gone into the new home to "log along together" would I have been as happy as I am now? All of which thoughts are rather futile.

I believe that that word "it" makes almost all the trouble in the world. Looking back, we always say, "If I had done so—" You remember the poet uses about the same idea, but he doesn't use the words, when he proclaims—

"Of all sad words of tongue or pen,
The saddest are these: 'It might have been!'"

But when one hears fifty, my is determined to place his great medicine in 1900,000 bottles in 1920. He will send you a treatment of Dr. Burkhardt's Vegetable Compound—pay for same when restored if you have Liver, Stomach Trouble or Constipation, don't let another day pass. It is an old reliable herb remedy which has stood the test for thirty years on two continents. For sale in drug stores, 30 day treatment, 25¢. 10 days, 10¢. Address Dr. W. S. child, when a woman notes the jangling rays of the sun in life's afternoon, if she has learned anything from life, she knows that the "might have been" was a false chimera and the "was" as the only thing by which she could have come where she could look into the twilight and shadows with any kind of appreciation of not only what is, but what will be.

I learned thru the great restlessness and so-called unhappiness of my youth that there is given to all of us a bigger, broader and more beautiful thing than love in this world and that is Life.

As I write these words, my child, I hear your father Karl's footsteps outside my door and I think I will read them to him.

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

We are now settled at the Great Central hotel, near Baker street, London, and not far from Madame Tussaud's palace. This hotel is huge and to me very old-fashioned. It is comfortable, however, and the rooms are large and airy. One is certainly waited upon here. Why, I have not seen so many servants in years, and good ones. They dance about one helpfully, and have such nice voices.

True to type, the very first thing we did yesterday morning was to dash down to the American Express and see if there were any letters. There were several, and two cables for me from Jack, now safely out in Los Angeles, and one for auntie. That done, we gazed at the future and many a woman, several familiar names from the past, and Phil Moeller, his play, Madame Sand is running here, that is a failure, and due to come off in a day or two.

After leaving the Express we wandered about Trafalgar Square, admiring everything, and peeping into shop windows to our hearts' content. Then we made our way up to Piccadilly, and went into Swan and Edgar's, a big shop there, and looked the stock over. They certainly do not know how to dress their shop windows here in London; that was one of the first things that struck me. Such a heterogeneous mass of things as they pile up, confusing the eye, and waiting a lot of good material to my way of thinking, or certainly those things get dusty and shopworn. I was so amused to see that father's hats are being worn here as much as ever. England certainly does not change much. Everything amused me, the shoes, the blouses, and especially the hats! Such hats, all alike, and not at all up to the minute. Heard that Swan and Edgar's was struck by a bomb during one of the air-plane raids early in the war, and blown to bits—part of it, and many girls killed living times in this city. No one thinks of hurrying here, no matter what you want. The salesladies are as slow and composed as possible. No one walks fast on the street, and no one seems to even take their business seriously.

Business places open at nine-thirty or ten in some cases; there is plenty of time for lunch; and then at three-thirty an hour for tea; and they close at five. It's most surprising to me just fresh from rushed New York. I must say it's soothing to the nerves, tho. The people here have no nerves, except some of the poor soldiers. But the women—they are as placid and unmoved as will. I don't know just what to compare them to somehow.

We found Soho in the course of our wanderings, and were delighted with its queer winding streets, and its inviting little foreign restaurants. Had lunch in one of them called "The Rendezvous," and some lunch it was.

The folks at home would weep at sight of the bottles of the French wine that are over before the eyes here—and so cheap! I never met up with so many "Pubs" (as the saloons are called here) in my life. Every few feet—no wonder poor Pussyfoot Johnson got such a cold reception. They will never put prohibition over here—no, sirree. We spent several hours looking into the antique shops round about, after lunch, and admiring the really lovely jewelry. Many people have pawned their jewels during the war, and now they are to be had for very little in any of these shops! I bought the loveliest pair of cameo earrings, too sweet for words, and very old. Also a beautiful pair of coralline eases that dazzled my eyes, and worried mother to death. I think this is a thrilling city in every way.

School Books and Supplies

The School Book Store at the Central High School carries all books and supplies for both grade and high school pupils. It will be open each day and evening this week, including Saturday. Also, all day Monday and Monday evening.

The books and supplies carried are the very latest editions as used in the schools at the lowest or regulation price, authorized by the State Department.

Book lists are on hand for all parents, and children showing the exact books needed for both Grade and High Schools.

Book prices have been increased since Ohio since the new filling my the Publishers with the State Department of April 15th. But by placing orders prior to that date the Board of Education has been able to save parents of Lima several hundred dollars as most textbooks are being sold at the old price while the advance on orders placed since April 15th has been approximately 25 percent due to the higher listing authorized by the State Department of Education.

Parents buying textbooks that were ordered before April 15th in anticipation of this increase will secure the books at the lower price.

Book slips may be secured at the Central Store showing textbooks and supplies by grades.

Enter Central Book Store from Pierce street, between High and North Streets. Open each day and evening.

HAD TO HOLD TO SIDE OF BED ON RISING MORNINGS

Back hurt so bad couldn't straighten up till he had walked round a while. This farmer's kidneys caused much trouble, but Dreo set them right again.

"Many a morning I've had to hold to the side of the bed in order to get up, then walk round for a while before I could straighten up," said Mr. Albert Logan, who is a farmer living near Athens, O.

"For five years I've been in miserable health. My kidneys were weak and I'd be up five and six times during the night from them. I had terrible pains in my back, my liver was lousy, and I'd get so dizzy sometimes I'd have to stop a few minutes till it passed off. My stomach was also out of order and often swelled up like an army balloon from the gas in it. I was constipated and so nervous I couldn't sleep much."

"Things are different now, tho. for I jump right out of bed into my clothes, and ready for a big breakfast. Don't have to get up during the night a single time; bowels acting regularly; no more dizzy spells, and I sleep like a log. All this change was brought on by taking Dreo, and I think it the greatest medicine I ever saw."

All druggists now sell Dreo and it is being especially introduced in Lima by Barclay's Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and High-sts.

STAGE STAR NOW IN MOVIES

William Faversham Makes His First Appearance

"MAN WHO LOST HIMSELF"
Hedda Hopper in Same Cast—
Movie Directory

By ESTHER WAGNER
BECAUSE William Faversham has so recently turned his attention to the stage, it may interest you to know that in his first picture "The Man Who Lost Himself," he makes good once again.

The picture was taken from the novel by Ernest Stackpole and deals with the strange complications that arise from the meeting of two men who look exactly alike. One is a disolute English Earl; the other, a native of New York, Victor Jones. By a trick of fate the problems and troubles of the one shift themselves to the latter and what he does to them in his clean American way, makes a most entertaining play.

Many pictures which feature some particular star in a double role are tiresome, but in this picture there is not enough of the dual stuff to tire anyone. And Mr. Faversham has sufficient personality to handle any part that may be given him.

Hedda Hopper (she is really Mrs. DeWolf Hopper, you know) does some splendid acting as the Countess of Rochester. Besides a goodly amount of startling beauty and vivid charm, she is endowed with that indefinable something that screen actresses must have to be successful. And besides, she can act. So, altho the story is not really original, and there are a few things with which you might find fault, you'll find "The Man Who Lost Himself" good average entertainment. It's showing at the Lyric.

BRINGING UP FATHER

—By McManus

Short Shavings

Judge White is telling with relish of his encounter with a certain young matron of the Wilshire district. It seems her husband had been spending most of his nights at the club and the lady hinted to his honor that one of these days she might come one night to the court. The other day, however, encountering the judge on the street, she buttonholed him, saying: "Judge, I'm so sorry I said all those things about my husband. He can go to the club all he wants to and I'll never say a word."

broke into the house and my husband told him out with a poker. I had heard that he was a poker expert and now I understand. The dear boy has been spending his nights preparing for just such an emergency."

A little girl who had been exceedingly naughty had been punished. The incident was then dropped. An hour later the mother, feeling that it was her duty to improve the moral lesson of the occasion, said:

"Now, Doris, what are you most ashamed of?" The answer was unexpected, and bore no relation to the late offense. "Squaky boots in church," said Doris—and she had the sympathy of everybody present.

"Papa," said Tommy Treadway. "Now, Tommy," replied Mr. Treadway. "I shall only answer one more question today. So be careful what you ask." "Yes, papa."

"Well, go on." "Why don't they bury the Dead sea?"

Railroad Employees

You are about to receive a substantial "back pay" remittance. Why not establish a "Reserve Fund" with it?

What is a reserve fund? It is an amount of money set aside from earnings each year to meet unexpected expenses or possible losses. It may never be needed but if it is needed, it is always ready.

Most all corporations are required to have such a fund and every individual should have one. Sickness, lack of employment, vacation, old age, are a few of the things that may make a reserve fund a convenient thing to have.

Your account will be appreciated at The Allen County Savings and Loan Company, Corner Market and Elizabeth Streets, in the Savings Building.

Five per cent interest is the rate allowed on deposits.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

There's a way of spending money that spreads incomes over bigger "sandwiches."

Big business calls it financing. Government calls it budget-making. We call it the Budget Plan.

Would you like to own a New Edison? Our Budget Plan will show you how to "swing" the purchase, without cutting in on your present necessary expenditures.

Now is a good time to buy. The New Edison has advanced in price less than 15% since 1914; this includes War Tax. Mr. Edison has kept prices down by absorbing increased costs out of his own pocket.
